

The foolish crow

One day, God was going to pick the prettiest bird in the world. All the birds were very excited.

Crow said "God will pick me for sure. I am indeed the prettiest".

All the birds laughed and walked away. "You are too plain". They said. Crow was puzzled.

All the birds took a bath. The pond was full of their colorful feathers. Crow took a bath too.

That night God came and saw a colorful bird. He said that bird was prettiest. It was crow.

The birds knew it was crow and plucked the colorful feathers off his body.

Crow was sad and now an outcast.

Moral: Be yourself. Don't copy others

Moral- Be yourself, Don't copy others.